

Desk Alert™

We'll tell you when your targets are at their desk – dial less and talk more by calling at exactly the right time.

Overview

- Know when someone is answering their phone – Boxpilot's call center generates thousands of outbound dials in a day. When one of these calls finds your target at their desk answering their phone, we'll alert you instantly. With this knowledge, you can call them and get them on the phone.
- Choose your notification style – Using email, SMS text or instant messaging to best meet the needs of your in-house sales team or staff, we'll set up the systems to connect with you instantly. Just click on the alert to dial the number, and now you're talking.

Features

- Only pay for alerts – You only pay for the alerts that we send you, not for the dials that we make to get them.
- Never puts prospects "on hold" – Nothing screams telemarketing like sitting on hold while you're transferred to a sales rep. Your sales team will be ready to talk when your contact answers the phone, demonstrating the respect business executives expect.
- Schedule your windows – You choose the days/times and how many in your team you need to support.
- Free-standing or integrated – You choose whether Desk Alert runs as an add-on to your existing voice campaign (e.g. quick lead qualify, nurturing campaigns, appointments) or alone.
- Easy, fast set up – It takes only hours to schedule your program and get it up and running.
